2.) CHIEF'S ACTIVITIES

- ◆ Attended various meetings
- ◆ Continue to manage the COVID-19 pandemic
- ◆ Prepare for WILEAG reaccreditation

COMMENTS:

On February 11, 2021, I celebrated my first full year as Chief of Police. I have many people to thank for my success over the last year, not the least of which are my Administrative Assistant Patrice Moratz and City Administrator Steve Volkert. I am truly grateful to serve in this position beside an amazing staff!

Overall, February was a particularly quiet month. I was notified by Officer Amanda Naukarri that she will be resigning in March and moving to Ohio. She will be missed. Following her notification to me, I reached out to Andrew Bahr, an individual on our eligibility list, to gauge his availability and level of interest in the vacancy. He responded eagerly and we anticipate extending a formal offer to him in March.

This year we are in the process of preparing for our WILEAG accreditation. WILEAG's primary mission is to offer a voluntary and affordable method of achieving professionalism through the accreditation of law enforcement agencies and to assist those agencies to better serve their communities. From the WILEAG website..."Accreditation is a progressive and time-proven way of helping institutions evaluate and improve their overall performance.

The key to any successful accreditation system lies in the consensus of published standards obtaining a clear statement of professional objectives. WILEAG promotes excellence in law enforcement through participation in a voluntary law enforcement agency accreditation program. Accredited agencies demonstrate compliance with applicable standards covering all aspects of law enforcement administration and operations."

In addition to the aforementioned accreditation, we are also seeking our second recertification for APCO's Project 33. From APCO's website..."Training for Public Safety Telecommunicators, initial and continuing, is exceedingly important as they provide essential services to the public in an ever-expanding and rapidly changing public safety environment. The APCO Project 33 Agency Training Program

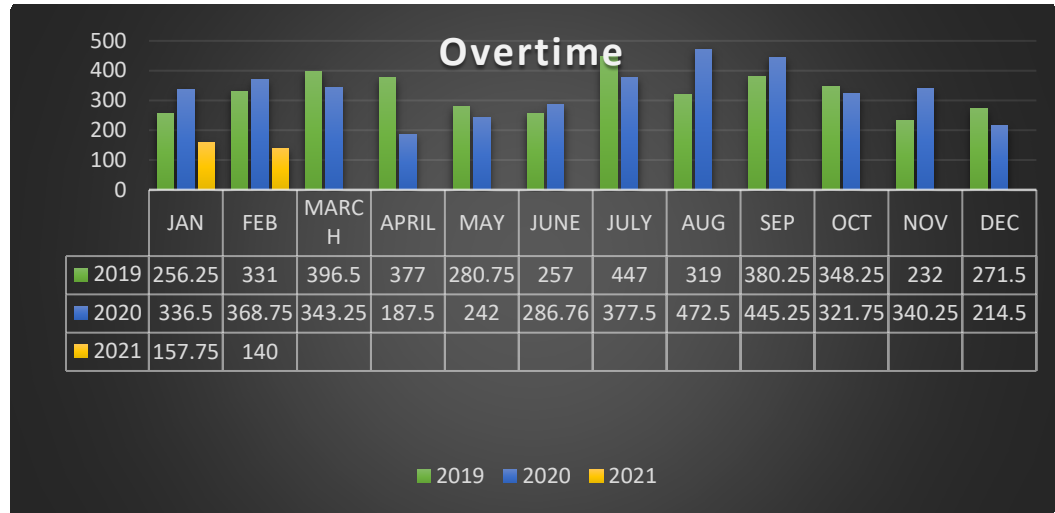

Certification is a formal mechanism for public safety agencies to certify their training programs as meeting APCO American National Standards (ANS). Agencies applying for certification submit their curriculum, training materials and supporting documentation to be checked for compliance. The primary objective of the Agency Training Program Certification is to advance the training and professional development of public safety communications officials through the certification of an agency's training program.

Building and implementing a successful agency training program requires many resources and a good deal of dedication. Submitting for certification demonstrates the agency's commitment to training and to meeting national standards. Receiving certification for a training program is a major accomplishment for the agency, its staff and the community it serves."
